NOTIFICATION

We are delighted to inform you that the University Library of the University of North Bengal now provides access to Grammarly, an English writing assistance tool. This web-based solution, known as "Grammarly for Education," is available for your use.

This tool is available to all faculty members, officers and research scholars of the University of North Bengal. It works one-on-one with your essential writing skills, reinforcing proper revision habits, and preventing plagiarism. You can use this tool to check your research papers or any other written assignments, ensuring that your writing is clear, concise, and grammatically correct.

Grammarly develops English writing skills, enhances good revision habits, and checks for plagiarism. However, it can do much more than finding common spelling, punctuation, and grammar mistakes (it recognizes over 400 of them). It uses AI-based algorithms to show students how to improve clarity, word choice, and style

To access Grammarly, please follow the steps below:
